The Fire Will Forever Burn In My Heart

By : Stormbird Throneshaker

Written 01/17/2012

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/Stormbird Throneshaker

Copyright © Stormbird Throneshaker, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

The Fire Will Forever Burn In My Heart

I wrote you letters and you returned them

You didn't read them and so I burned them

I called you up but you didn't answer me.

Â

I stay warm from the winter snow

and while your letters turn into ashes and smoke

the fire will forever burn.

Â

The fire will forever burn in my heart

no matter what the season

The fire will forever burn in my heart

no matter what the reason.

Â

I knocked on your door and you wouldn't open

Closed in my face but I was hoping

I tapped on your window but only your back I saw.

Â

I stay dry from the spring rain

and while your letters turn into ashes and pain

the fire will forever burn.

Â

The fire will forever burn in my heart

no matter what the season

The fire will forever burn in my heart

no matter what the reason.

Â

I closed my eyes and dreamed of you dear

You ran from me and I couldn't get near

Then I awoke and I began to cry.

Â

I stay cool from the summer heat

and while your letters turn into ashes and defeat

the fire will forever burn.

Â

The fire will forever burn in my heart

no matter what the season

The fire will forever burn in my heart

no matter what the reason.

Â

I prayed to hear from you real soon

in light of the sun or dark of the moon and I found another return to sender.

Â

I stay alive from the fall surprise

and while your letters turn

into ashes and dies

the fire will forever burn.

Â

The fire will forever burn in my heart

no matter what the season

The fire will forever burn in my heart

no matter what the reason.

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-07-31 08:30:25