This world consisted out of 4 elements: Earth from the god Eon.

The gods, not wanting to be continuessly irratated by the peoples, decide to give the world a gift that will keep all ï¿½at piece. The gods so doing made sure of no religion and tried to ensure that they will never have to help this world maintain a balance.

They created 7 sirens in the form of men women. These sirens also gained imortality, but if one should fall to sickness or a blade another shall be soon after born. A couple of creatures and people decided that they wanted no part of this uneccasary war and in the haert of the forest Liara they styarted building farms and houses. They stayed there and not minding all. This they called the Woodland.

ï¿½

The sirens out of wich 4 were still origanals sworn them and all sirens to follow to Woodland. As the gods see this they new that there world will fall. The sirens shal keep the forest growing and expanding while they stop caring about the world.
