Autobiography Contest

Hello all. Hope your February has been pleasant. This week the challenge is to write something autobiographical. For those of us running on a lack of sleep (as am I) here's your dictionary definition of autobiographical. Autobiographical: (of a written work) dealing with the writer's own life. So that's what I want this week. This one starts on February 15th and ends April 15th. No entries will be accepted after April 15th.

All entries must be NEW. NEW stories only and can be any form (novel, short story, poem etc).

You are required to leave two comments below. The first when you enter. The second when you finish, and PLEASE include the link when you post the second comment.

First Place

- I will read every one of your works and comment on everything at least once.
- Fan you (if I haven't already)
- Promote you forever on my profile

Second Place

- I wil read ten of your works and comment on them all.
- Fan you (if I haven't already)
- Promote you on my profile for a month

Third Place

- I will read five of your works and comment on them all.
- Fan you (if I haven't already)
- Promote you on my profile for two weeks.

Leave a comment below if you'd like to join, then when you finish it please leave me another comment saying you're done AND add a tag to your story/novel/thing that says thecontestmaker5. That's just so I can find it easily :). So here's this weeks challenge, good luck, have fun, and may the odds be ever in your favor/may the force be with you.
