A Day Without You Here (Pt. 1)

By : guff01

This is kind of the same idea as 'Don't Say Goodnight; Say Goodbye' but the mood and feeling is different. Some more experimentation. Part 1 of 2.

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/guff01

Copyright © guff01, 2013
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

A Day Without You Here (Pt. 1)

I am not myself on this day

Sadness and solitude fills me

I could not bear to see you leave me

I have a void in my soul

You insisted on leaving

I insisted the opposite

I'm standing next to the window

Following rain drops as they trickle down

Overcast skies moving in to stay

Picture of you sitting on the windowsill

I pick it up, clutch it in my hands

When are you returning to me?

I can't take another second of the loneliness

Visions of you gather in my head

I had no idea having to go on alone would be so difficult

I thought I could hold off the dull ache

I thought I could keep my emotions in check

I thought I could keep myself together

I was wrong to think that

I won't move

I won't smile

I won't remove myself from the window

I won't be happy

Until you are...

Here

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2013-06-18 22:27:36