3 Different Poems

By : Rebecca1994

Here is a collection of 3 different poems that I wrote. I hope you like them.

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/Rebecca1994

Copyright © Rebecca1994, 2013
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

3 Different Poems

True love

Alone in the corner a little boy sits

Waiting for his time he shall speak

His name has been called, he gets from his seat

To the middle he goes, thinking how it shows

How little he knows what lies ahead

Taking his time he bows his head

He puts his hand over his heart

Looking down he says so loud

Only one shall see there is nothing to fear

Because only true love can come here

In my heart

Last night I lay awake

Trying to think what I could say

I thought and I thought

But each and every time coming up nort

So I settled instead with the thought in my heart

The words come crushing down

Because I had them all along

If only

3 Different Poems

If only there was a way she could take

To find her price in only a day

If only he would say you are my one and only

Take her hand and kiss her slowly

If only she could say I love you more with every day

Take him by the hand and find it out that way

If only there were time to make this happen

They would truly make it their passion

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2013-05-24 22:21:01