It's Your Story

You say that the story's yours and you're sticking to it

no matter what anybody says

It's coming together bit by bit

and you'll have a best seller in just a few more days

Though sometimes you go and break tradition

why not even you're a mathematician

So you get it wrong every once and a while but that's your way and that's your style

No you can't please them and you can't please me so please yourself and let it be

We can't all be happy, no matter what you write while slaving over it both day and night

Not everybody liked Lord of the Rings but hey, that's just one of those things

How about Star Wars or Star Trek

no, not even those, so what the heck

And the stories of Harry Potter

why not make them cooler instead of hotter

Well tell us now, what are you going to do to make us all happy so we'll read it through

You say that the story's yours and you're sticking to it

no matter what anybody says

and you'll have a best seller in just a few more days

It's Your Story

but that's your way and that's your style
