The Dark Mountains: Prologue

By : LilDarkVixen

Prologue to "The Dark Mountains" novel.

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/LilDarkVixen

Copyright © LilDarkVixen, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

The Dark Mountains: Prologue

The Dark Mountains

The Prologue

â Momma!!Momma!!

Hurry up!! Iâ m ready to exploreâ . A black fox kit was jumping up and down waiting for her mother to let her go out.â Zilla, go ahead without me, but donâ t go too far away!â The red vixen barked. Yes!!, Zilla ran outside and started sliding down the mountainside. Leaf-bare is so cold, I canâ t wait for it to be over. She looked around to search for any danger but nothing was about, she ran forward and tripped over something.â Oof that hurtâ . Zilla looked down and saw she had tripped over a white vixen and also saw she had blood on her shoulder.â Oh no, I need to get my mother. Uh, you stay here.â As she started to turn the vixen replied â Got any other bright ideasâ . She giggled but stopped short when she a growl behind her and saw on the cliff she just jumped off, Pandora, her aunt. She heard Pandora growl and then heard another as she saw her mother jump on the cliff next to Pandoraâ s.

â What are you doing here Pandora?â

â Iâ m here to get revenge of course, dear Chryssa. Ever since the day you stole Cadoc from me, every day I have watched you mooning over him and then flaunting your kit around. It felt like being cut open every single day and bleeding onto the stones, and now you shall feel the same pain when your kit is at your paws deadâ

With that Pandora took off in Zillaâ s direction with hatred in her eyes, but her mother was faster. But as soon as her mother caught up to her, Pandora wrapped her foreleg around her sisterâ s body and the battle commenced. Before Pandora could get a better grip on her mother she pinned her down.â Zilla run back to the den and take that other fox with youâ she yelped as her foreleg was bitten by Pandora, she could see green stuff coming from her jaws. She helps the still mysterious vixen to her feet, who whined with the effort.â Come on, we have to hurryâ she whispered into the vixenâ s ear. She took them at the fastest pace the vixen could and got back to the den, she then heard a yelp cut short in the distanceâ ¦..

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-03-28 05:39:04