

Ode to the Earth

By : June Martin

This poem is to aware the world of the nature's before and after. Lets take a step to make the world a better place just by caring about our mother earth.

Published on
Booksie

booksie.com/June Martin

Copyright © June Martin, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

Ode to the Earth

Ode to the Earth copyrighted material

Let the stream make its sound,

Let the pretty flowers bloom,

Let the sky turn blue.

And let it kill the gloom.

Letâs make the earth proud,

For it lets us step on it,

And let the birds chirp loud,

Singing the song of glee.

Let the rain wash the soil,

And let its burnt color clean.

And the aromatic buttercups,

Flaunt their ochre in the scene

The gizmo up and above,

Was of times ago,

No more of that natural beauty

Is left to be adored.

So letâs pull our socks up,

Ode to the Earth

Ode to the Earth

And help our ancient planet,

And return all that beauty,

And the last sonnet.

- June Martin

Ode to the Earth

Ode to the Earth

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-02-01 13:00:01