

Farewell to my Mom

Farewell to my Mom

By : Sadtunes

I wrote this poem while cry. This is dedicated to my mom who just passed away. It's hard for me to unleash her in my heart.

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/Sadtunes

Copyright © Sadtunes, 2015

Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

Farewell to my Mom

From the night I glance at the gloomy sky
As I tried to find you, pleading to ask why?
Mom, you left me with a wounded heart
And never thought that you would bequeath us
The love that you render to me
Is the greatest thing I ever had
In the bed where I lay, though sickly with anxiety
Youâre there at my side, comforting me all the time
Then one night as I sat in my bed
I heard the vampire bat of death, screaming that my mama was dead
I hastily run to see and it was true, and it broke my heart into two
My tears shed from my eyes with the burden of grief
And I canât stick my eyes to see you in inanimate state
Now that youâd taken away
I hope that you wonât be astray
Within my heart and my soul all I want to say is
I love you mom.:(

Farewell to my Mom

Farewell to my Mom

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-31 05:09:34