Basically, his parents had actually refused to give him a very large sum and he decided to leave their house. as he was leaving the apartment he met Mr. Future, one of the most intelligent man in their community. he told him, his reasons for leaving and Mr. Future said' Lope you are so foolish and stupid, the days that you have spent wasting away your life and future, you spend on valueless things, and now, your desires are stronger than your achievement. i give you four days to think about yourself and your Future. if you dont find anything wrong with you, then consider your self a worthless man'.

after four days, Mr. lope told Mr. Future that he knew he has a very great future, so Mr Future gave him the sum of 20 million naria to start up his business, he went and established he business and it grew. people were astonished, some of them couldn't beleieve it, their eyes were wide open.
