

I am an Artist.

I am an Artist.

By : ashi17

Dedicated to all artists like writers, poets, painters etc.

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/ashi17

Copyright © ashi17, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

I am an Artist.

I am a Writer and a Painter

I might be considered as crazy because I spend hours silently looking at the sky, clouds, rain, flowers, plants, rivers, sea or anything that belongs to nature, so the calmness would not be disturbed by my words

I may be immature, as I love to dance in rain, smell aroma of mud, love to see flying butterflies and playing with kidsI am not ambitious nor do I dream big, as my rewards cannot be measured in monetary aid. My death might come as a disappointment to my close ones, who would get just few papers filled with black ink, sketches and mysterious paintings of mine. But my greatest satisfaction comes from the work, for which I will never be paid. Not that I want to be, my emotions being my most prized possession in the whole world.

For some, I am an emotional fool, who smiles without reason, cries in solitude, I believe in emotions which give both pleasure and pain. I love without reason.

I might be annoying, as I walk separately from the flock and break those social norms which are ill-logical. I stand alone away from the crowd may be because of my phobia that I may end up losing myself

I am not a next door girl, I don't enjoy all those stupid things done by the typical ladies, I might be abnormal or not exactly what I should have been but this is what I am who I am. No matter loved or ignored

I am a writer, a poetess, a painter, who writes and paints to express herself, to say all that which has been left unsaid.

I am an Artist.

I am an Artist.

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-28 09:30:56