Afternoon Delight

Returning from the kitchen,

A tray in hand

I admire you upon the bed,

Gently stroking your length

Strawberries and yogurt,

And ice water to quench us

Propping to your elbow,

As I bend to set down the tray

Running your finger down my spine,

Tingles producing buds

I lean to feed you my sensitive berry,

Then follow sensually with a strawberry upon your lips

Fingering the yogurt,

You trail it upon my other breast

Your teasing tongue leading,

You gently cleanse your mess

Afternoon Delight

My hand replacing yours,

I run my fingers along you

Your tip taut and glistening with excitement,

Your arousal even more evident

I take you to my lips,

Parting them to taste you on my tongue

You taste salty sweet,

And smell wonderfully of our morning love making

Brushing my hair from your view,

I glimpse at your pain stricken face

Your hand tangled within my locks guiding me,

Pacing my every move

Secretly I snake my other hand,

Down between my legs

Deep into my arousal,

Slickness drips for you

My bud hardens,

Afternoon Delight

As I take you deep in my throat

Curling your toes,

I feel you pulse in my mouth with release

Afternoon Delight
