You had on your heartagram shirt, blue jeans, black eye liner. sarah had on the same thing but her shirt was a different heartagram shirt. you both grab your skateboards cause you don't go anywhere without them. you put them in the car. sarah got in the driver's seat. you look at each other. and nodded you put him a him cd and took off.

CHAD POV:

Your summer sucked. Taylor moved and 3 days after she moved she called you and said she found someone else. you couldn't believe your heart was broken. You were at school talking to Troy in the parking lot when this black car pulled up the music was blaring. these 2 girls got out they were new. this one girl got your eye. you couldn't help but smile.

"Sarah so they have to be in every school?"

"of course the school can survive without people who think they're better than everyone else."
