The Vampire Trilogy - Logan's Final Sunrise

She was gone

I couldn't live without her

Fifty four years

I'd been with her

Now, she was gone

I sat beside her

Felt her heart beat

Felt it stop

I was all alone

The World was cruel

To save her soul

I let her die

This was no gift

It was a curse

To watch your loved ones perish

To watch the light leave their eyes

To be left alone

I loved something

It was gone

The Vampire Trilogy - Logan's Final Sunrise

The world was a different place

We would never be accepted

We were monsters

Forced to live out our lives

As stories that lurked in the dark

I would see the sun again

I would see her again

You Bring Me To Life
