Sweet Dreamers

COUPLET

David Williams,

I create my environment while Iâm at rest.

Feelings I have are known as the best.

Creating a playground of my own desire.

Of which cannot and will not ever expire.

A world of my choosing all to my self.

Something not found in a book on a shelf.

Visuals of my persona explode.

Leaving a trail of my internal code.

After leaving my body, I feel nothing.

When all is restored I feel a slight tugging.

Reenter the world rejuvenated and new.

Drowsy and weak, not coming through.

A weight is restored on top of my head.

Chaos commences, as I roll out of bed.
