Sunrays

To be or not thought a young man 5 he was or so he thought, he played with the little kids laughing at their jokes, until one a man said you will be choked on september now remember that, the young man was gripped with fear and shed many a tear until, she was beautiful thought many a villager as the lonely woman passed through town, but not a sound to the dear boy did she make, the boy began to get confused 'why does a woman not speak to i am maybe not worthy but when i'am throttle i shall throttle the other man and may he hasten to hell then maybe she will love me now it was one cold night and the young boy had no where to sleep so peeped around the village, when he was fast asleep under a tree that seen lifetimes of crime when along came the boys most treasured possession, now she hugged and snuggled to be close to this boy thoughts stirred the boys head, the boy unable to control his berserk brain he grabbed the woman and pulled her tight, but the lonely girl fought with all her might till a sensation that blew the young man away blew her with the sun's rays.
