From Thomas

Her name is Jann and not Jane

She will soon go on an airplane

To become a real American

Even if they are fictionally lame

She has a big family

Some are living oversea

She publish on booksie

She says it is just a hobby

But her romances are lovely

She met a guy called Tarzan

He is a good French man

He doesn't seem to have a plan

Like the evil Dominique Strauss Kahn

She has no permanent address

It might cause her some stress

But she doesn't look in distress

As you know she is so fearless

She used to go in this nice restaurant

Where she destroyed every equipment

From Thomas

Everything she touched is now fragment

And she did it without a warrant

Sherlock Homes is her best idol

For her he is like a fierce sex symbol

She read a passage which is appealingly droll

As Americans say he is a â dickâ after all

Best wishes

Thomas
