

The Walking Lie

The Walking Lie

By : Shadowed BlackHeart

This is not a fiction, everything in this is true, from beginning to end, this is my transition.

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/Shadowed BlackHeart

Copyright © Shadowed BlackHeart, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

Table of Contents

The Walking Lie Chapter 1

The Walking Infant

The Walking Lie : Chapter 1

What you see on the outside is a lie. I am a walking lie. It's what's inside of me that is true but will never come out. I am trapped and tortured and need to be set free. I am a lie and trapped, always have been, always will. If I had one wish; I wish to be reborn again, born right as who I want to become. Here, in the world of internet, I am free to be who I want to become in the future. Outside I am nothing but an actor forced to act in this torturous play. I am a walking lie, not able to show society the truth of who I really am. I am the spec of what people want to see, what people expect of me. I would look in the mirror and see the face of a pure ugly woman when I want to see a man. I am nothing more than a walking lie, and I continue to walk the lie. I walk deeper and deeper into the darkness as I force myself to dress-up and be the person I am expected to be and how I was "supposily" born. You want to see a real mistake? You are looking at it. I am The Walking Lie, The Actor, The Biggest Mistake Ever made in society...

Chapter 2: The Walking Infant

Chapter 1

I have no photographic memory as those who have those remember absolutely everything, me, I remember very very well but I'm more visual. Whatever I see or hear from TV, movies, music and/or books. I remember.

Now, I must admit, I get my "attitude" from those things, therefore I'm a copy cat to some degree, but who I am, who I want to become is not from anyone or anything. This is all me, no one else.

Looking back, I don't really remember much in my earliest childhood, infant age. All I knew is that I came to America screaming bloody murdering. I never let anyone, not even the people who adopted me, hold me.

They were all warned that I would probably make their ears deaf but they seem to think they can manage. Somehow I finally settled down. In the car, my brother, who was in the back, leaned over my seat and held a small stuffed goose. I looked up and immediately stopped screaming/crying and cuddled my goose.

It took a while but I finally settled and let my family hold me. It was then decided, this was my home from now on and this is my family now.

I was still a screaming bloody murder but that all died down when my mom used her finger for me to suck on. My mom decided to send dad to the store to buy me a pacifier, I loved it and I could suck on it all day! Unfortunately, I lost it and began putting things from the floor to my mouth. Everybody thought it was gross, I thought it was delicious.

The Walking Lie

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-11-27 06:10:32