IF i am interpreting correctly, please be there. I know she is in town. You may or not be trying to tell me something happened with her. Today is her special day. I was jealous of her last august. Please don't let this interfere. Please.

I always sensed she was into you. What could I say? I would not have had a leg to stand on back then. When I saw her comment to you about how good it was to see you, the eyes were far beyond green. I held it together. Was under law. Then I saw another brief moment captured with her in June. However, I was no longer under law. And though we still weren't speaking, I could feel your love everywhere. I never gave up...and you didn't either. Today has been excruciating. I know you know this. I'm not trying to make you feel bad. I don't care if something happened with her. All of our stuff is in the past now. Please come.
