

A Dated Expression

A Dated Expression

By : goldenpetal

Poems from Love

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/goldenpetal

Copyright © goldenpetal, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

A Dated Expression

A smile is a place that has seen the best and there is nothing left to say. A caretaker is one who looks away from suffering and needs only to see the result of compassion and love. Doing what requires a space in the middle of peace is to accept what needs to be done to accomplish true joy; where love reigns so does peace go and where hate ceases so does creative love sprout like a tree. Can you always determine a true heart if love is not connected to a gesture of a smile or grace to a heart felt emotion. For if all of man treated each other special in love would there be room for disgust and a yearning to devour each other due to offense and the knotting of the heart. Truly a new day is coming when all shall be true to one self and true beauty will come forth as a special design is birthed in the heart and produced by love. Can you say all is well and can you operate in truth. For our wisdom is connected to our heart for out of it flows the rivers of life so water your ideas with a conscience of purity for you know that all shall come to those who accept truth. A chapter a day is good for you and to those who spend all day in Me will see and propel the answers of life to spring forward and they will live with no strife. To care is to give and to love is to receive for on this day we shall believe that love is King and we do as our Father has spoken to you. Give to all love in life and reap rewards that far surpass all other things in this life.

A Dated Expression

A Dated Expression

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-27 16:07:15