A Desired Place

Acceptance is key and important to Me if you trust in the King of Kings. He accepted you and took your place and received the wrath laid upon Him as He died for you today I am pleased to say our family is growing day by day and all the world is to say Jesus is Lord for all who seek his face. The present is true a gift for you as you dwell in the secret place. The care of the Most High is special for you as you need a friend or two. Can you say everything is ok or do you dwell on hate that is from hell. Can we be a family or do you like what surrounds you. Can you believe the Word today dont you feel special each and every day. Realize this concept for it is true God loves all who feel special now for His Word embraces and steers you clear of the will baited for some who treasure a place called sin and lust. The place of longevity is here for you if you trust in Me for I never intended for you to suffer as you do when you abandon Me. I realize this is true you have people that will make fun of you yet I know how some spit on Him on his way to Calvary. I claim redemption for all the lost and do not wish for them to toss to and fro in the waves of strife trying to survive. Walk above the toil and pain and speak the truth written for you open the Bible and see what you know it will change the things around you. Listen to some who have been sent for they wish to help all those who want to change from death to life and experience a better life. This place I speak is calm for you and all others seem so far who stress and toil without a plan and accept the turns of a plan to destroy all others as they survive and receive the handouts from those who say we are here to help you. If you trust in Me today I will show you a better way. For in the world is deceit and pain and in this life no one knows how much love cared when Jesus died for you I tell you the truth this is sure will you open the door and accept Jesus He is there for you who always cares everything about you.

Amen.
