A Purpose Intended For Some

A special event is before you a time of special retribution a call of the time that influenced the mind and set the record straight. To be compelled for a purpose that destiny will allow to experience the Saviour Jesus Christ is Lord. In some religious circles the truth shall comprehend and other people seem to hear this story of make believe. I can express the truth that all should like to hear the piece that God above would like to hear. Composure is your place I will put aside for the necessary equipment will place love at your side make no mistake do not experience retribution the chance is before you with special contribution. The pleasures of this world cannot compare to the original plan that placed love in the center of your mirror. I came to excuse and pardon all of those who think they can abuse the anointed and all who suppose their works are so special and put themselves on a pedestal for this world is a crumble in the loaf of all who try to be special in my heart which is a special chamber that will allow only the humble. Do not expect your words that are thought up on your own to transfer you in your heart to a place of love. For people who think they are special above all the rest will experience poverty at its very best. I warn you again think little of your works yet place the God from above in high priority for He knows what is best and will accept no fake implorations only the true in heart and will judge all the others who think they are so smart. Deity has a plan from the beginning that will place love and truth in the heart and the rest of time will be experienced. The creation of man is done in love so true yet the fall of all this time had to be renewed so if you think you evolved from gorilla ancestry you will be shocked to call yourself complete. For to look in the eyes of deity in time will reveal your dependence on supreme quality for the first time. No one can be right if they think they have all the answers and all who know the truth will remain very quiet. For you to say there is no God is to say I have a hole in my mind.

Amen.
