

A River Frontage Road

A River Frontage Road

By : goldenpetal

Poems from Love

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/goldenpetal

Copyright © goldenpetal, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

A River Frontage Road

e Road

A path perceives a plan not lead by man. The future is bright for those with sight. What you see shall be yet the difference is when you see with your eyes or when you see with your heart. The plain truth is always revealed when you set aside a cause and a determined idea that did not come from Me due to the fact that all will be destroyed without proper dignity. A calm a sweep of emotions shall be determined when all prepared thoughts will be determined in the heart. You must see a destiny as you step lightly in your ways and walk boldly in my name. I can tell in your heart when something is not right from the start. All people know right away when you feel good about them and when you can listen intently as you perceive through eyes that God has given to you for this sight shall reveal the character flaw in man and when you are needed to change because the human frame cannot stand any more yet the Spirit in man fills the life with every good plan from the hand of God to man. Do not realize that you have a clue when you trust in you. Always give credit today to your Lord as you say praise God for wealth today and all the days of our life when we join supernaturally and do not operate independently. I reveal excellence never making you feel bad. I always encourage with love and help you all intently. I proceed looking today for a heart not made of stone for in co-operation we find success and do not trust mans intelligence. For brawn and beauty have no root in longevity for they are temporary yet beauty and love are kind for all and help others see themselves clearly. Expect many changes proceed in truth helping all who do not want to move in the direction I have given to you in the protection of my love for you. Remember love covers all carries you and my Son was sent for you as a friend and example today how to live your life successfully.

Amen.

A River Frontage Road

A River Frontage Road

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-25 09:19:46