

A Special Moment

A Special Moment

By : goldenpetal

Poems from Love

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/goldenpetal

Copyright © goldenpetal, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

A Special Moment

All will come together and all will see true love expressed in the eyes of all living beings. A peace unknown to those with much words. All bystanders will not express this will only be fluent in the heart as it pours forth with much intent and all past thoughts will be revealed as nonsense. The presence of love will heal all today for the quality of peace shall heal all pain. Moments like this are rare to be found for only those who take the time will be felt in the heart and mind. Look how peaceful a waterfall is while others proceed not wanting to get wet and some want to get barefoot. What draws a heart is simplicity and what propels love will be seen. As people move forward with technology much is expected in the health community. Advances come at a cost if you proceed and do not ask for protection in Psalms 91. My plan includes a repertoire that shields all love from the start so do not express stress out loud today for it will hurt others who meditate on such pain. Give to me your pain right away so Satan will not curdle your heart and life. Life is an extension of great true love and for some it is a game of wealth trying to accumulate peace and recognition while others are happy with little amendments. The position of heart is a venture of truth for only the Lord can forgive through you. Your ability on your own is self deceit with no back up plan. Do not battle in this life only regard truth and demolish strife. Peace and love will extend your life while all others focus on self and few can stand strong in this life. The connection to Jesus is your key only do what He says from Me.
Amen.

A Special Moment

A Special Moment

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-26 04:12:32