

Reminiscing the Memories

By : GiggleMonster2

This is a poem about my former science teacher. He recently passed away and I will miss him so much. He was kind and very funny. I will surely miss the days when I'd walk down the hallway and he'd smile at me and say "Hey, Zarah Smith, my girl. How are you doing?" He'd hug me right after that.. *R.I.P Mr. Robert Madonna. 4.15.12

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/GiggleMonster2

Copyright © GiggleMonster2, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

Reminiscing the Memories

Reminiscing the memories

Denial clouded my judgement and shock overtook my heart when I heard about what happened and how you did depart

She said those words to me but I refused to believe and wanted to find some clarity

And so I heard some words that almost brought me to tears because I remember all the moments and what you'd say just last year

I knew this day would come but I didn't think it was so near this is so unfortunate and that is what I feared

I'm going to miss you, Madonna and I wish you very well because I love you with all my heart and this, the world I will tell

Written: 4.16.12

For: Robert Madonna.

Rest peacefully Mr. Madonna. We'll meet again someday.