

Alley of Love

Alley of Love

By : goldenpetal

Poems from Love

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/goldenpetal

Copyright © goldenpetal, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

Alley of Love

A waterfall of love is upon you who dance and know the truth the present is a gift given in truth. I shall pour my love on you as you pray and receive all of this message today. I have come to give something so special for a mistake took place and I could not stand to lose you the present is a gift where no one can deny yet tomorrow will be a surprise. Yesterday a memory preserved like a dream only to be viewed in the pleasantness of all schemes which benefit you as you look to me and know the future is so pretty in joy. I focus on you as I look today knowing the blood covers you in every way please do not confuse time with luxury for a peace can make a difference between joy and chore. I represent a truth discovered by some only to be seen in the act of man preserve the Word and doubt not today for I will not lie it is just that way. Honor me in love and truth for I extend my hand to you. Amen.

Alley of Love

Alley of Love

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-30 20:06:21