the lives of people

She's beautiful and popular they tell her she's gorgeous and shouldn't change the confidence seems obvious in her eyes and in her stride as she walks down the street but no one knows that she cries herself to sleep...

He's handsome, has lots of friends he's got money and style his car puts all the others to shame he's a soccer-star, he seems obsessed with himself no one knows he wishes he was someone else...

She's thirteen going through puberty her parents are getting a divorce she's got so much potential to do great things but all she thinks she's got is holes in her old sweater too bad no one ever told her that she deserves so much better...

He slams the door
angry at mom
so he took his dad's gun and took out all his anger on an innocent 15 year old girl no one ever taught him killing was wrong he's just reacting in anger and doesn't realize the damage he has done...
