

Poem-A-Thon Competition

By : angellynn

Who will be the best of the best?

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/angellynn

Copyright © angellynn, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

Poem-A-Thon Competition

This contest will require you to go the rounds should you be chosen for the next round of competition.

Depending on the entries, 10 will be chosen to go to round two of the poem-a-thon. The number of rounds depends on the number of entries.

Each poem chosen will be put into a hat, and at the end of each round a lucky poet will be placed in the final round of competition. I'm hoping to have at least 10 poets competing in the final round.

Just so you know, I will be choosing the theme and/or genre for each round.

Genres will range from romance to dark. No Erotica or sexual content allowed. Cursing is fine, but please don't let it be the basis of your poem, it won't win.

I will fan each entry.

First Place winner will receive their work posted to my home page for the month of May and June, and I will personally invite readers to check it out. Also I will read and comment on 5 pieces of your work.

Second Place winner I will read and comment on 3 pieces of your work.

Third Place winner I will read and comment on 2 pieces of your work.

I hope to see many entries.

Comment below you'd love to join. After I have received 10 entries, You'll be put on a list, with your genre, after which you can begin to write.

You can leave a comment here on the contest page when your entry is complete, along with the link to your poem. Please don't leave the title of your poem, I must have the link to it.

Good luck and happy penning.

Angellynn

Poem-A-Thon Competition

Poem-A-Thon Competition

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-28 23:23:44