

Manners

Manners

By : attanasio

Just a short poem about manners.

Published on
Booksie

booksie.com/attanasio

Copyright © attanasio, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

Manners

Manners

By: Joe Attanasio

Manners come from a social law

A standard of conduct for us all

Good manners vary from place to place

The idea is to not be a disgrace

Manners are set by a social norm

Ladies and gentlemen fit the form

Bad manners is not a legal crime

But they cause disapproval all the time

When others are around to see

A mannered person would agree

Fingers digging in your nose

Bad manners that would disclose

Throwing trash on public ground

Would make most people frown

Interrupting a persons speech

Is not something manners teach

Manners

Manners

Coughing and sneezing in some ones face

Does not show any social grace

Bad manners are just plain rude

Like spitting out half chewed food

If we use good manners all the time

And donâ t commit those social crimes

And always show our best face

The world will be a better place

Manners

Manners

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-25 10:23:33