Inspiration

What is it that drives us

Is it our goals of future happenings

Or is it a balance of random thoughts

Added to a mix of what we desire

Interesting as it is we may never know

For all we are aware of

Fate could be pulling the strings

Pushing us forward to what we apparently like to do

Each of us fall in line somewhere

Enjoying one activity more than another

With skill and practice we become better

At what we love

What makes us do these things is the object

The intangible feeling of joy when achieving success

At what we are inclined to do by reward

Dealt after the enthusiasm

For only God knows why we are

Inspiration by Connor Geoffroy

And what we are truly good at

Maybe we are all good at inspiring others

To do what they love

By doing what we love

Through the gift of inspiration
