

An Angel, far in sight, close at heart

An Angel, far in sight, close at heart

By : dhorlapor

It's a poem about how we feel when we are in love

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/dhorlapor

Copyright © dhorlapor, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

An Angel, far in sight, close at heart

An Angel, far in sight, close at heart

A Sweet night with free mind

An undisturbed serene environment

Beautiful music from the songbird

An immense joy and inner peace for the moment

I seem to be in love with the breeze

I might as well shiver due to cold feet

Though I feel special and immortal

Like there is this reason why time should be paused

A goddess must be dwelling in my thought

Her picture is clearly visible in my mind

The more I reason, the more her charm engulf me

A feeling of perfection in my lonely heart

If she is an angel

Then why is she wandering on surface of earth

A thief in the shadow of love

Because that which I cherish most has been stolen

An Angel, far in sight, close at heart

An Angel, far in sight, close at heart

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-29 19:58:26