The day we gave up

Do you remember when

I called you Moon

you called me Sun

and healed my wounds

we bend and bend

and never break

and feel our power

to give and take

you gave and gave

I took and took

and never got a second look

you closed the door

and ran away

I stayed until

another day

and as frost said

way led to way

and so ended

our passion play

The day we gave up

The day we gave up
