

The baby sleeps.

The baby sleeps.

By : ElizaZenith

I believe all newborns are able to see faries, or some kind of equivilent, basically the representation of the purity and innocence we are all born with but never take with us thanks to the world we live in.

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/ElizaZenith

Copyright © ElizaZenith, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

The baby sleeps.

The baby sleeps.

Quiet in the cradle and fast asleep,
the baby breathes and sheds a weep.
It sees the faries flying above,
becuase of it's soul filled only with love.

here they swoop and dive,
they can leave a smile.
But they vanish in five,
not just for a while.

The black swings down,
engulfs the soul.
The baby frowns,
heart black as coal.

Innocent no more,
mum comes through the door.
Baby's all human now.
morals ready for corruption,
innocence gone. The devil's abduction.
Purity nowhere to be found,
human sins are inbound.

The baby sleeps.

The baby sleeps.

The baby sleeps.

The baby sleeps.

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-30 20:38:46