

Slowly Drowning Version 1

By : JBrewer

I wrote 2 versions of this trying to get it just right. Still not sure if I am happy with it, I may have to try again.

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/JBrewer

Copyright © JBrewer, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

Slowly Drowning Version 1

It shudders,
I know it's coming.
Thin ice, I hate walking on you.
I can feel it cracking,
breaking apart.

It shatters,
I can feel it now.
Thin ice, nothing you can do.
You've fallen to pieces,
you have frozen my heart.

It Freezes,
I gasp for breath.
Cold water, tears at my chest.
I choke, no yell,
I panic, I can't scream.

It Destroys,
I close my eyes.
Cold water, lays me to rest.
I remember you,
In all my thoughts, in every dream.

My heart stops,
I'm drowning,
I'm drowning,
That's how I know it's love,
because my heart's been calling for you.

By: Jeremy Brewer
Poetry Embrace

Slowly Drowning Version 1

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-03-06 20:26:41