Bullied.

I remember sitting praying they would stop calling me names I remember standing wishing they would let me join in the games I remember feeling different different from the rest I remember the pain shooting through my chest
I remember running having to run home
I remember the feeling of being alone
I remember being hated hated by them all I remember the feeling of being so small I remember those years from January to December no matter how old i get no matter how much i move on I will always remember.
