

The Mind's Field

By : Mistress of Word Play

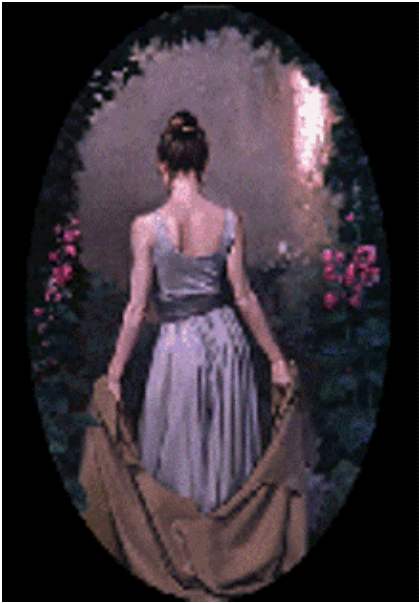

Always remember you are who you are and never let others sway you. Stay strong and live your life as you should.

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/Mistress of Word Play

Copyright © Mistress of Word Play, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

The Mind's Field

Bring forth the plow and till the soil
make the furrows deep.
Turn the hardened earth and rake back
every mud-baked clod.
Spread the herbicide and fertilize
all the seeds that sleep.
There within those empty vacant fields
within my mind's vast sod.

Gently water those fragile new shoots
now sprung which flourish there.
Pray pull the weeds and chase away
all the hungry crows.
Guard my precious crop with vigilance
and the utmost of care.
Watch the wonder of this enriched brain
as it freely grows.

The Mind's Field

The Mind's Field

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-27 00:46:32