LET A WOMAN BE YOUR COMPASS

now, men are born explorers but i gotta tell ya, guys never asking for directions is a credo, most unwise

let them help you when your'e lost you must think of it as counsel and not being rudely bossed

some men are ever prideful and they yearn to leave their mark but they can use some help sometimes when roads are thin and dark

let a woman be your compass let them help you to go forth sometimes you're heading south when you are sure you're heading north

they say that every great man has a woman close behind but she should stand beside him take his hand when he is blind

when you can't tell east from west she'll lead you to the road that in the long run will be best

they're a guide to navigation they're a star up in the sky that will never lose its bearing when it's time to get you by

trust the wisdom from their mouth and trust in their direction be it east, west, north or south
