MILES AND TRIALS

in times of jubilation

there are tribulations too for a changing of the guard means something old meets something new unfamiliar with the dance step there are toes that may be crushed and a scream is much more piercing when the atmosphere is hushed in times of excitation

there are fluctuations too there's disruptions in the math whenever three divides by two we are sailing in strange waters where the clouds may block the sun but we fathom that a rainbow will emerge when storms are done in times of exploration there are smoke formations too and when winding through the maze you will find mirrors thrown at you but a chiming in the distance is a signal loud and clear telling us that joy and comfort lies beyond the walls of fear in times of exclamation there are lamentations too and the patterns tired and old will be rewoven into new we must have faith in each other and defend ourselves with smiles

all these countless miles and trials
