Bug Me Lady Bug, Bug Me

By: Stormbird Throneshaker

Poem written 02/12/2012

booksie.com/Stormbird Throneshaker

Copyright © Stormbird Throneshaker, 2014 Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

Bug Me Lady Bug, Bug Me

Tears of blue, I've cried for you, all through the night

The moon shines still, as it always will, the sun will shine bright.

But all my dreams, washed down the stream, about drove me insane

I'm drowning now, in these blue tears, while standing here, watching it rain.

So bug me lady bug, bug me before you up and fly away

Yes love me lady love, love me

or it's going to rain today.

You were dear, so very near, you were my sweet company

From the start, you were my heart, you were my best memory.

I wish to see, you back with me, only love can heal this pain

But alone at last, the years will pass, while standing here, watching it rain.

So bug me lady bug, bug me before you up and fly away

Yes love me lady love, love me or it's going to rain today.

If there's a way, please won't you stay, and make this house your home

And dry my tears, chase away these fears, til everyone of them's gone

Just don't go, for I love you so, please forget the train

In the spring, we'll hear birds sing, while standing here, watching it rain.

So bug me lady bug, bug me
before you up and fly away
Yes love me lady love, love me
or it's going to rain today.

Bug Me Lady Bug, Bug Me
So bug me lady bug, bug me
before you up and fly away
Yes love me lady love, love me
or it's going to rain today.

Bug Me Lady Bug, Bug Me

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2014-03-11 18:24:15