Hard Believing

I called your friend on the phone last night about the way you treat me, cause it ain't right I didn't know what else to do or who else to turn to She listened to all I told her as I cried on her shoulder
It was hard believing every thingshe said She told me that you loved me and that your love was true So why do you hide it from me and why do you make me blue She said that you want to please me and all my whole life through So why do you tease me and do the things you do
