The Lady With The White Coffin .

The projected story is in progress , it would be soon published .

The girl did not see her father since her birth . She with her growing consciousness learnt that she is a princeâs daughter , but who the prince was a mystery . The mother avoided and remained reluctant to the embracing question . Her dim recognition of the earliest memories relate to the governess who cared and looked upon her as mother . In some special occasions she found her mother lustrously ephemerals with lordly gallants .She could only peep through the blinds of the door , and her visual live recorded the exchange of glass , close embraces , and loud and whispering voice amidst the smoky fumes of the room . Since her nursery days as she can recollect , her hostel room has shifted from school to college and college to university . Her mother has provided a luxuray living along with through and through means in dance ,music and acting .And every where , in every competition she has proved herself unrivaled .
