A Call From My Ex

MY ex from like 4 years ago just called me and now i cant sleep, this is pretty much what i said.

I could not explain why we split up.....oh no, yes i can lol, you cheated on me! Your never know how much i loved you.....oh wait yes you did!? I told you everyday! So why cheat? You said it was an accident, i know if i forgave you we would properly be together but as i explained to you, i hate cheaters, i would never cheat and i expected you to feel the same. You promised me youd never cheat! Your beautiful, smart, kind, fun and the mother i wanted for my children.....but you cheated, you was one of three people that really new me, you were one of three people i fully trusted and you new it would damage me and you still did it. I cant forgive that. i miss you everyday, every fucking day i think about you! Its made me avaluate my life and killed me for years. I loved you and you took that love and pointed and laughed at it....i know your sorry but i made my mind up, i cant lie to myself, your everything ive ever wanted but the want is tainted. I miss and love you still but can we just barely be friends and i need people who care about my feelings, take care, ill miss you.....

I cant keep my tears back while i right this, i dont know if her calling me was a good idea, it brought everything back and i cant help thinking if im making the right choice.....it was nice to hear her voice.
