My Hearts Flames

what is love? poem

love...people question all the time what is the definition of love?? what is its meaning and how do you feel when you are in love or loved well truthfully there are no definition because there arent supposed to be love is supposed to be a feeling so special that it is understood but at the same time not understandable some think love is that feeling when you get butterflies in your stomach and your heart accerlerates and he leaves you breathless or it is the bond between two people but everyone is right i think because it is just to great of a feeling to be completely understood but it is funny that you know when you are completely in love...no questions asked you just know and the feeling i would say the feeling of love...finding that person of a lifetime it is the most wonderful feeling in the whole world.....love is love dont question it just flow with it for your heart will lead you in the right direction for it knows where to go
