

The Bird that Gave her Heart Away

The Bird that Gave her Heart Away

By : Cyclone

Thank you for loving me.

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/Cyclone

Copyright © Cyclone, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

The Bird that Gave her Heart Away

All this time you where giving me choices;
while others gave me no choice;
I was slowly falling in love with you.
I didn't realize that until now at this very moment.
Next time someone tells me
you walk so fast;
I'd tell them to shut up;
I'm slow.
After 6 years;
it's now that I realize how much you've always cared for me.
Your patience is one
I never understood until now.
It doesn't make you arrogant.
It makes you mine
for realizing you where the only one for me, and I'll always seek you out of the many souls.
There where those who only saw me as an angel but you saw more than there was.
You where the only one to see the bird in me;
always seeking freedom.
Angels come to stay ,
but I didn't come that way.
Angels have no choice,
but I wanted a choice.
My own foolish heart made me a prisoner to my own world.
You where the one to set me free;
knowing I would always return.
Thank you for trusting me.

The Bird that Gave her Heart Away

The Bird that Gave her Heart Away

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-25 23:39:02