Silent death

Silent death,

Cold as ice, and sneaky like, a diamond back rattler snake, he is everywhere and know where,
No need to search for it, for it will find you, like a domesticated animal, following you everywhere you may go, silent death, is just around the corner, waiting, like lightning it strike, you down where u stand, cuz it knows where u are at all times. ready for u to make a mistake, for ur soul it take, to heaven or hell, a fatal results, is always the same outcome, it comes in the still of the night, or the middle of the day, it comes to steal ur heart away, it has no friends, no alliance, it shows no favoritism, to the rich nor for the poor, it dos'nt matter wether a doctor or a lawyer, doors, black or white, red or brown. a singer or a clown, it can leave you, choking, dried and gasping for air, look around u its always near, as ur heart stopped ur spirit, drop, once a man now twice a child. as it came to claim yet another body, another one bite the dust, no where to ran, no where to hid, cold trail of distruction, as ur lips gets parched, too weak to speak, ur time is up, as it consume, and take ur last breath, silently death walks alone, another another victim, yet another soul, your here today, then gone tomorrow, no more pain and no more sorrows the same for every borough. like a wounded pray, ur helpless ur fragile, just waiting for silent death, like a friend u never had, like a sheep to the slaughter, as it takes ur mother, father, sister and brother. he has no, care for your nationality, nor your race, silent death is everywhere and know where, he has no love, no fear stright or queer, he'll sure to, find you anywhere .silent death is far and near,.
