

This is my prayer

This is my prayer

By : koolc

This is my prayer

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/koolc

Copyright © koolc, 2015

Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

This is my prayer

This is my prayer

A prayer,

I feel like I am here standing all alone against the raging title waves, and yes I greave within my soul,like an animal in acage with fear like a shadow comes over me, I say a prayer, I am trying to be bold,lord I am just a man, but ur the keeper of my soul.I am trying to keep my sanity, for the good of humanity,

I hope u understand, my heart is full with sorrows and discomfort, I say a prayer to be strong, i dont know how long i have to hold on.

I am torn apart from love, like cold hands without gloves,I cried like a worrier,and like a wounded soldier on a battle field,whos faith is seal,

dear lord hear my prayer, i promise not to swear even if it hurts,but my tears are dried up, I feel like an empty vessel,as my soul fights and wrestle with evil,oh lord please, hear my cry, my knees buckled from the weight,on my back,lord i am in an awful state,dear lord here i am again my burden, feels like a million pound of pressure, beating me down like a levey,a close call almost like a heart attack , so i speak for the weak the humble and meak. my mind is clear i feel the air, on my face,and a bitter taste of death,on my tongue.i feel the strain and steam like a run away train, cuz i am trying to run away from all my pain.

and sorrows that befriend me, so i pray for her, him,and she and the world, that denys me and for those who prosecute me, this is my pray to thee.

oh lord I just wanna be free.

This is my prayer

This is my prayer

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-01-26 18:42:44