Forever and for More

*Come swiftly you to me,
Oh, you beautiful creature!
You do not know,
But at twilight we shall tie
The toughest bound that diamonds cannot undo!
Though thorns and fire knock on our door,
We shall be safe in our forgotten world.
Just you and me, traveling the world and discovering seas!*

*Come swiftly to me,
Oh, you beautiful creature!
Come to me once more,
Let me hold you in my arms,
Before death take you away,
Before the thorns pierce your skin,
And the fires turn you to ash!*

*Come swiftly to me,
Oh, you beautiful creature!
Come to me once more.
I had traveled far and wide to find the Underworld
In order to let you know that I shall love you forever and for more!*
