

When You Think Of Me

When You Think Of Me

By : Michael68

Something I wrote for the woman I love. It just came to me one night.

Published on Booksie

booksie.com/Michael68

Copyright © Michael68, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

When You Think Of Me

When you think of me....
do you think of the way we kiss the tender touch of our lips against each other
so soft and gentle
that it arouses your heart so much.
Bringing about such feelings that you have never felt before,
and longing for it to never end.

When you think of me....
do you remember how it feels when I am holding you in my arm?
The feel of my body against yours,
the warmth between us
and the feeling of my hands on your back, moving up and down it
intensifying the passion, the love we share.
Holding each other so close, so tight,
as the world around us melts away,
and you wake up hugging your pillow wishing it was me.

When you think of me....
do you remember the passion we share those nights of passionate words whispered and burning beds.
Feeling my lips, my fingers, moving over your naked flesh such affections now being shared that have so long
been locked away within the soul.
And our bodies joined as one,
limbs entwined,
friction growing so great
as it melts the flesh as one.
Each thrust driving us even deeper into the wondrous ecstasy of the moment.
You riding me savagely,
till finally we explode in sweet bliss.
But when you awaken,
it's just your fingers
manipulating your sex,
wishing it was my touch,
my caress,
that was pleasing you
showing you such pleasures.

When You Think Of Me

When you think of me...
do you remember how I love you sharing all the passion and tenderness that my heart has to give you.
The loving look in my eyes I give you, the words I speak of undying devotion and all that I share with you.

When you think of me
do you think and feel all of this and more?
Because I do all the time when I am thinking of you.

When You Think Of Me

When You Think Of Me

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-02-01 12:01:53