

Between the Light and the Fire

Between the Light and the Fire

By : Micheal Grey

Mm

Published on Booksie

[booksie.com/Micheal Grey](http://booksie.com/Micheal Grey)

Copyright © Micheal Grey, 2015
Publish your writing on Booksie.com.

Between the Light and the Fire

Between the light and the fire,
And in the smokeless heat,
There is a place where lovers meet.
I drew her there.
She met me there.

And so you trade away,
Another part, a prayer to stay.
So often lost.
So often beyond all cost.

She slips inside tonight.
Lost and looking for the light.
Drawing her to your breast,
You give her everything undressed.

And so you trade away,
Another part, a prayer to stay.
So often lost.
So often beyond all cost.

Between the Light and the Fire

The night fades in every sky.

Falling from the sunâs new eye.

Stars once to guide the way,

Falling in loveâs new day.

And so you trade away,

Another part, a prayer to stay.

So often lost.

So often beyond all cost.

Yet another part, another prayer.

Now between the light and the fire.

That is where we are.

That will be my star.

Between the Light and the Fire

Between the Light and the Fire

Created from Booksie.com

Generated: 2015-02-01 18:36:33