Oh Joy

The feeling, The happiness that a person should always have,
But can never obtain, like a right it's embedded within our soul to be released into the depths of heaven or hell; to be delt by God or the ever going Beast of Burden I have a hard life with middle class support which seems to get smaller every year of my life. Sometimes i wonder why I was born with a forsaken family that can barely pull itself together in the time of death and family misfortune. I am only a human that was constructed in a certain way that took some 100 years or more to satisfy the Lord. leading into a great army upon our ever coming death.
